from the beginning of time humans have been driven by both a fear of the unknown and a curiosity to know we have always yearned to know what lies ahead whether threat or safety scarcity or abundance throughout human history our forebears tried to create certainty in the unknown by seeking to influence outcomes with sacrifices to gods preparing for the unexpected with advice from oracles and by reading the stars through astrology as scientific methods improve and computer technology develops we become ever more confident of our capacity to predict and quantify the future by accumulating and interpreting patterns from the past yet the truth is there is still no certainty to be had in this very short introduction jennifer gidley considers some of our most burning questions what is the future is the future a time yet to come or is it a utopian place does the future have a history is there only one future or are there many possible futures she asks if the future can ever be truly predicted or if we create our own futures both hoped for and feared by our thoughts feelings and actions and concludes by analysing how we can learn to study the future about the series the very short introductions series from oxford university press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area these pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable a history of the future is a vast but orderly chronicle of the next five hundred year a map for every science fiction fan and every reader who wishes to test the plausibility of another's vision it begins so near to our own time that we easily recognize the significance of the events described and then year by year steps away from our present to chronicle the sorts of great changes that must inevitably overtake humanity in the tradition of bill bryson's a short history of nearly everything a smart and entertaining guide to the future of civilization when unexpectedly confronted with his own mortality mark stevenson a writer deep thinker and stand up comedian began to ponder what the future holds for our species the past is a foreign country writes stevenson by my analysis it's a bit like france in that i've been to parts of it and eaten some nice food there but the future the future is an unknown territory and there isn't a guidebook thus his ambition was born stevenson set out simply asking what's next and then traveled the globe in pursuit of the answers along the way he visited the australian outback to visit the farmers who can save us from climate change met a robot with mood swings and talked to the spaniard who's putting a hotel in space while some might be overwhelmed or even dismayed by the looming realities of genome sequencing synthetic biology a nuclear renaissance and carbon scrubbing stevenson remains well optimistic drawing on his singular humor and storytelling to break down these sometimes complicated discoveries an optimist's tour of the future paints a wonderfully readable and completely enthralling portrait of where we'll be when we grow up and why it's not so scary watch a video for marc augé best selling author of Non-Places the prevailing idea of the future rests on our present fears of the contemporary world it is to the future that we look for redemption and progress but it is also where we project our personal and apocalyptic anxieties by questioning notions of certainty truth and totality augé finds ways to separate the future from our eternal terrified present and liberates the mind to allow it to conceptualize our possible futures afresh and however paradoxical it may seem today the grail mood is in the fullest sense to be found in russia and the future role that russia will play in the sixth post atlantean epoch a task of which i have so often had to speak rests firmly upon this unconquerable grail mood in the russian people rudolf steiner nov 3 1918 although eastern europe has been part of christian humanity for more than a thousand years its task and spiritual identity remain a mystery the answer to which cannot be found unless we look behind outer historical events to the spiritual meta historical dimensions of history this momentous work breathtaking in its scope and detail represents just such a penetrating esoteric study of eastern europe in the light of rudolf steiner's spiritual research prokofieff shows how from the earliest times the future conscience of humanity flowed from hidden mystery centers in hibernia to the eastern slavic peoples as a result qualities of compassion patience and willingness for sacrifice developed in their souls creating a truly christian grail mood despite incalculable suffering from the persecutions by the mogul hordes of the thirteenth century to the bolshevik experiment of the twentieth century this quality has become an unconquerable force in the depths of their being in illuminating the maya of outer history prokofieff reveals the forces that have been at work to hinder the progress and future intentions of humankind those adversarial forces have created a karma of materialism that the eastern slavic peoples have taken upon themselves out of their exalted willingness for sacrifice will we be able to use the present opportunity granted by this sacrifice to fulfill the primary purposes of the present cultural epoch serious study of this book intended for students of spiritual science can lead to a profound awakening to the challenges that face humankind today
